

Drink Recipes & Hydration Log

Three drinks, your daily target, a 7-day log and the honest truth about "detox" · Module 2, Training 3

The honest science

- Your liver and kidneys do the detoxing. Water is what they need to work; no drink pulls toxins out of you.
- Mild dehydration (about 1% of body weight) worsened mood, concentration and headaches in healthy women (Armstrong et al., Journal of Nutrition); water, hydration and health reviewed in Nutrition Reviews (Popkin et al.).
- Adequate total water intake: about 2.7 L/day for women and 3.7 L/day for men from all drinks and food (National Academies). Roughly 9 and 13 cups of beverages.
- Sugary drinks: ≈20% lower monthly fecundability in both partners (Hatch et al., Epidemiology). Alcohol: minimal or none while trying to conceive (ASRM, ACOG); men's alcohol intake linked to lower semen volume and poorer morphology (Ricci et al., Reproductive BioMedicine Online). Caffeine: moderate (1–2 cups) not linked to reduced fertility in the ASRM review; ACOG advises under 200 mg/day in pregnancy.
- Avoid commercial "detox teas" containing senna or other laxatives: they dehydrate.

Your daily target (calculator)

STEP	WORK IT OUT	YOUR NUMBER
1. Body weight in pounds ÷ 2	= ounces of water per day (rough rule)	_____ oz
2. Convert	÷ 8 = glasses (8 oz) · ÷ 34 = liters	_____ glasses · _____ L
3. Adjust	+ 1–2 glasses on hot days or after exercise	_____ glasses
4. Sanity check	Women ≈ 9 cups, men ≈ 13 cups of beverages including tea	✓

Urine colour guide: pale straw = well hydrated · light yellow = fine · dark yellow = drink a glass now · very dark/amber = drink and keep drinking (if it persists with plenty of water, tell your doctor).

Timing: a full glass on waking before coffee · a glass before each meal · most of your water before mid-afternoon · a glass of water after every coffee.

Three recipes

1. LEMON, CUCUMBER & MINT WATER (THE COUNTER PITCHER)

1 L water · ½ lemon, sliced · ¼ cucumber, sliced · 6–8 mint leaves. Rest 1 hour in the fridge. Refill the pitcher once with the same fruit. A pitcher you can see gets finished; a bottle in the fridge gets forgotten.

2. WARM GINGER & TURMERIC TEA (EVENING, WINTER)

4 slices fresh ginger · ½ tsp grated fresh turmeric (or ¼ tsp dried) · pinch of black pepper (helps absorption of curcumin) · squeeze of lemon · 300 ml just-boiled water. Steep 7 minutes. Gentle on the stomach. Skip if you're on blood thinners without asking your doctor.

3. BERRY & BASIL SPARKLING WATER (THE SODA MOMENT)

4 raspberries · 2 basil leaves · ice · plain sparkling water. Muddle berries and basil in the glass, top with water. Looks and fizzes like a treat; no sugar.

Also counts: peppermint, chamomile, rooibos, hibiscus (hot or iced); water with a splash of unsweetened cranberry. Peppermint can aggravate reflux in some people. Ask your doctor about herbs if you have a condition or take medication.

7-day hydration log (30 XP)

My target: _____ glasses/day. Tick one box per 8-oz glass (or 250 ml). Herbal tea counts. Sugary drinks and alcohol go in the last column, honestly and without guilt.
