The mood of this module: proportion, not panic

The studies below show associations, mostly in people already in fertility treatment. Nobody's chances are decided by a food container. What they justify is lowering the load where it's easy, for the months that matter, because the swaps are cheap and the benefit reaches two bodies and possibly a third. Exposure is not destiny: many of these chemicals clear within days once you stop adding them.

The science in brief

- Transgenerational epigenetic effects of an endocrine disruptor in animals (Anway et al., Science, 2005); Endocrine Society second scientific statement on endocrine-disrupting chemicals (Gore et al., Endocrine Reviews, 2015); ACOG committee opinion on toxic environmental agents.
- BPA linked to poorer ovarian response in IVF (Ehrlich et al., Human Reproduction); phthalates linked to poorer semen quality (Duty et al., Epidemiology; Hauser et al., EHP) and IVF outcomes (Hauser et al., EHP, 2016).
- High-pesticide-residue produce linked to lower pregnancy and live-birth probability in ART; low-residue produce was not (Chiu et al., JAMA Internal Medicine, 2018). An organic diet cut urinary pesticide metabolites 60–95% within six days (Hyland et al., Environmental Research, 2019).
- Parabens linked to sperm DNA damage (Meeker et al., EHP) and markers of reduced ovarian reserve (Smith et al., EHP); topically applied parabens/phthalates detected in urine (Janjua et al., ES&T).
- Indoor air 2–5× outdoor pollutant levels (EPA); cleaning sprays and lung-function decline (Svanes et al., AJRCCM); 45 chemicals of concern in household dust (Mitro et al., ES&T).
- PFAS linked to longer time to pregnancy (Fei et al., Human Reproduction); air pollution spikes linked to pregnancy loss (Leiser et al., Fertility and Sterility).
- Sauna use reduced sperm count and motility, reversibly (Garolla et al., Human Reproduction): men trying to conceive skip saunas and hot tubs.

The ten highest-impact changes (if you do only ten things this module)

1. Stop heating food in plastic; store leftovers in glass or steel.
2. Organic for the Dirty Dozen; wash all produce (baking-soda soak).

3. Fragrance-free lotion and deodorant (the most skin, the longest).
4. Retire air fresheners, plug-ins and scented candles; open windows 10 minutes a day.
5. Replace under-sink sprays with vinegar, baking soda and castile soap (never mix bleach with vinegar or ammonia).
6. Shoes off at the door; damp-dust and HEPA-vacuum weekly.
7. Retire the scratched nonstick pan (stainless or cast iron).
8. Read your water report; use a certified filter (NSF/ANSI 42/53/58).
9. HEPA purifier in the bedroom; no ozone-producing devices.
10. Men: no sauna, no hot tub, laptop off the lap, all 90 days.

Safety notes

Skip anything sold as a "cleanser" with laxatives, extreme fasting or unregulated supplements. Warm, not hot, baths. Hydrate. Ask your doctor before any protocol if you have a heart, blood-pressure or skin condition or take medication. Don't skip vegetables because organic is unaffordable; a full plate of washed conventional produce beats a small plate of organic.

Your "why" for this module

"I'm clearing the path because, for my future family, I want our home to be _____."

Educational content only, not medical advice. Always consult your doctor or a qualified health professional before changing supplements, diet, exercise or detox practices, especially while trying to conceive.
