

Partner Agreement

A 15-minute meeting guide and a signed promise to the family you're building · Module 1, Training 4

Why this exists

Male factors contribute to roughly half of infertility cases (American Society for Reproductive Medicine), sperm are rebuilt every three months from daily habits, and when one partner adopts a healthier habit the other is far more likely to follow (Jackson, Steptoe & Wardle, JAMA Internal Medicine, 2015). This page makes the work visible so that nobody carries goals the other never agreed to.

Before the meeting (40 XP: review the template together)

- ☐ Pick a calm time: not late at night, not over food. Sunday morning works for many couples.
- ☐ Each of you reads this page on your own first.
- ☐ Agree on one rule: nobody is on trial. Start sentences with "I" and ask "What would feel doable?"

The 15-minute meeting (30 XP)

MINUTES	STEP	SAY SOMETHING LIKE...
0–3	Share one surprise from Trainings 1–3	"The part that explained a lot about me was..."
3–7	Individual goals — each person names one goal they own for their own body	"The one thing I want to work on for myself this month is..."
7–11	Joint goal — pick one thing you'll do together	"What's one thing we could do together that would feel easy?"
11–14	Check-in plan — when, where, how long	"Could we do ten minutes every Sunday after breakfast?"
14–15	Sign	"This is a promise to the family we're building."

Sentences that help: "How can we support each other?" · "What would make that feel doable for you?" · "I'll take a partial yes." Sentences to retire: "Why aren't you trying?" · "You always..." · "If you cared, you'd..."

OUR AGREEMENTS

- ☐ We prepare for conception as a team; no one is being managed and no one is being watched.
- ☐ We speak to each other with grace over guilt, especially after a slip.
- ☐ We schedule hard conversations instead of ambushing each other.
- ☐ We accept partial yeses as real progress.
- ☐ We will revisit this agreement at the end of every module.

Doing this on your own? Your support circle

Everything in this course works without a romantic partner. Your "partner" for these purposes is any person who knows what you're working toward and is allowed to ask how it's going.

Choose your circle (one to three people): a sister or brother, a close friend, a parent, a colleague, or someone from the course forum.

PERSON	THEIR ROLE	HOW OFTEN WE CHECK IN
	e.g. walking buddy on Saturdays
	e.g. weekly text: "How was your week?"
	e.g. forum accountability partner

The ask (copy and adapt): "I'm doing a 12-week course on preparing my health for a future family. Would you be my check-in person? All it means is a ten-minute conversation once a week where you ask how it's going and I answer honestly."
